

TESTING SUPPORT FOR POTENTIAL EMERGENCY
SPENDING BILLS

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- There is bipartisan agreement that the Maui wildfires and Hurricane Idalia qualify as emergencies, but not on whether the border crisis or Ukraine invasion qualify as emergencies.
- There is bipartisan support for additional spending to address the aftermath of the Maui wildfires and Hurricane Idalia, but mixed support for more border spending, and weak support for additional Ukraine spending.
  - The support for Ukraine spending is lower than other polls, which may be because it was presented in the context of other priorities.
- Republican and Independent support drops when spending for Ukraine is included in an emergency spending bill.

Methodology

Conducted by RMG Research, Inc. September 5-6, 2023. 1000 Registered Voters.
Margin of Sampling Error: +/- 3.1 percentage points.

STRONG AGREEMENT THAT MAUI WILDFIRES AND HURRICANE IDALIA COUNT AS EMERGENCIES, BUT NOT ON THE BORDER CRISIS OR UKRAINE INVASION

STRONG SUPPORT FOR MAUI AND IDALIA SPENDING BUT MIXED SUPPORT FOR BORDER SPENDING AND WEAK SUPPORT FOR UKRAINE SPENDING

Which of the following should Congress authorize more government spending to address? (Select all that apply)

REPUBLICAN AND INDEPENDENT SUPPORT DROPS WHEN SPENDING FOR UKRAINE IS INCLUDED IN AN EMERGENCY SPENDING BILL

